

Protection of personal data

The Data Protection Act
14th March 2021

The site reje-ton.com

has taken note of the law on the protection of personal data and privacy of users accessing the Site.

The protection of your personal data is an essential and relational element. This relationship is based on a principle of transparency aimed at respecting the privacy of each individual in accordance with the regulations in force in Europe, in particular for the application of the French Data Protection Act and the General Data Protection Regulation (RGPD), the "Regulations".

In this respect, the user is informed that, in the context of the use of the Site, some of his personal data may be collected and processed by each browser, including Google, in accordance with the applicable legal and regulatory provisions, in particular the current version of the law for confidence in the digital economy.

The aforementioned law defines "personal data" as any information relating to a natural person who is identified or can be identified, directly or indirectly, by reference to one or more elements that are specific to him or her.

Collection of data

The site reje-ton.com undertakes to collect personal data only for necessary and precise purposes, The user's personal data is currently collected via the site's newsletter registration form, there is currently no collection for donations, and includes the following data

First name

E-mail address

Telephone number (only if future donors)

Postal address (for donors only)

We only keep the data for as long as is necessary for the above purposes and for a maximum of twelve months if there is no exchange, or to enable us to meet our legal obligations.

Destinations, reminder

The nominative information is strictly intended for the use of the site reje-ton.com and only the administrator(s) of the Site is then able to access, manage and process the information.

Reje-ton.com undertakes not to sell, rent, transfer or give access to third parties to the user's personal data without the user's prior consent, unless compelled to do so by a legal requirement (judgement, order, exercise of the rights of defence, etc.).

In accordance with legal requirements, Reje-ton.com will only keep the user's personal data for the minimum and maximum retention periods provided for by the applicable legislation. Postal address (only if future donors)

Security of personal data given ?

The security of access to the rejection.com site is subordinated to the LWS host on the one hand, and, on the other hand, the listing will be on a secure flow and stored in computer encryption. Respect for the security and protection of your data is imposed on the site manager and, failing that, on all of the collaborators as well as on our hosting service provider, LWS.

Access to rights management

You may request at any time access to your personal data, its rectification, deletion and the limitation of one or more particular processing operations of data concerning you, under the conditions provided for by the Regulations.

You also have the right to modify or withdraw, at any time, the consents you have given us for the processing of your personal data. Your personal data may be retained or deleted after your death in accordance with the Regulations.

You may exercise your rights at any time by contacting rejection.com, directly to our Host LWS and by email

- LWS 10, RUE PENTHIEVRE 75008 PARIS FRANCE
- <https://www.lws.fr> +33 177 62 30 03
- By email to the following address: infos@rejeton.com

For any additional information on the protection of personal data, the user may consult the website of the Commission Nationale de l'Informatique et des Libertés (CNIL): www.cnil.fr.

Main information on "cookies

The site rejection.com reminds you that access to all or part of the Site may be conditional on the user's acceptance of the installation of cookies on his or her computer, for statistical and display purposes.

The cookies used essentially make it possible to

To display, as soon as it is functionally set up, during a first visit, the banner indicating the presence of cookies and the ability to accept them or to give the user the means to deactivate them

If future use of the site, Google analytics, to establish statistical measures of attendance and use of the site, in order to improve its use, the paths and features offered, via the Google Analytics provider. In this respect, the "anonymisation" of the user's IP address will be activated.

If the user does not wish to transmit information to Google Analytics, it is up to him to download and install the following module in his web browser:

<https://tools.google.com/dlpage/gaoptout?hl=fr>. This module is compatible with each browser

* The possibility of sharing pages of our site on your social networks, via Add This. If the user does not wish to transmit any information to Add This, they should follow the link as follows and click on the OPT OUT button: <http://www.addthis.com/privacy/opt-out>

To collect audience information via Facebook Pixel. If the user does not wish to provide information to Facebook and/or not to be targeted with ads, they can set their profile preferences: https://www.facebook.com/ads/preferences/?entry_product=ad_settings_screen

However, rejection.com recommends that users consult the terms of use of these social networks in order to find out how this personal data is used, particularly for advertising purposes.

Deleting or deactivating cookies

The CNIL also offers a complete guide giving tools for controlling cookies: <https://www.cnil.fr/fr/cookies-les-outils-pour-les-maitriser>

Cookies can also be deactivated from the browser or, for targeted advertising cookies deposited by third-party sites, directly from the <http://youronlinechoices.com/fr> platform.